The smallest craters are about 30 feet in diameter and 10 feet deep. Some of the large craters are about 300 feet in diameter.

DEDICATION

Often we appreciate least those who do the most for us. For that reason we, the class of 1965, dedicate this yearbook to the "big wheels" of our lives . . . our parents. Our parents, who have guided us through all the stages of our short, yet stormy lives. Our parents, who have rejoiced in our triumphs and shared in our despairs. Our parents, who have threatened, bullied and cajoled us, but above all, loved us.

To these long-suffering and patient people, we appreciatively dedicate this Mallard.

THE CLASS of '65 HISTORY

Our first grade class met with Miss Alvina Landmark

Buried in the hearts of the members of the class of 1965 is a treasure chest full of golden memories. It has collected those little unimportant events of by-gone years so significant in molding the futures of young students. Let us reveal our class history by probing through the chest and reliving those memorable days.

It all began one September in 1953, when sixty-eight frightened little first-graders entered the newly built Pearson Elementary School about to begin their first lesson. Under the guidance of Miss Shirley Shelstad and Miss Alvina Landmark, we became brave, experienced students.

During the second through the sixth grades, the novelty of school wore off. We were kept busy with studies and various other activities such as hikes, parties, music, and athletics. We progressed from the "babies" of the school to the "leaders."

Remember how bewildered and scared we were when we entered our seventh grade year?

Our class will never forget its "Shangri-La" prom, which was the highlight of our junior year.

Junior high at last! We seventh graders found ourselves losing our way around the halls and trying to become accustomed to so many teachers.

By the eighth grade we were used to moving from room to room. The majority of our class found itself staying after school from time to time for various reasons — most of them concerned with science class.

In 1961, eighty-five freshmen entered senior high. Our class was now separated because of class schedules.

Our sophomore year was jam-packed with activities — among them — homecoming decorating, parties, sockhops and the like.

Our junior year was the busiest. First on the agenda was the magazine drive. Next was the class play. Our class broke all selling records for both these activities. Later in the year was the prom decorating. Our theme was "Shangri-La". In addition were the many parties and dances.

Finally we were the mighty Seniors. No longer were we the "ruggies" who were ordered around. As graduation neared we looked forward to the future with mixed emotions. Our class had made its history and we could say, "Thus endeth our first lesson."

Now as we return to the present, we again lock that treasure chest, but not forever. We will open it again and again when we take time to reminisce about those "good old days."

IN MEMORIAM

*We often think of days gone by
When we were all together:
A shadow o'er our life is cast
A friend is gone forever.*

PROGRAM

The American Field Service International Scholarship is an open door which leads to understanding and friendship among the peoples of the world. Through this door pass students from more than 60 foreign countries to attend American secondary schools in more than 2,000 communities for a school year of study and first-hand experience, as well as American teenagers from practically every state to study and live with families abroad — a two-way program of seeing and showing. In this way, young citizens of the world learn to recognize and to respect the similarities and differences of those who, though they live in different countries, have dreams and efforts similarly directed toward the goal of a peaceful and useful life.

In 1963-64, our school had its first foreign student, Alice Maria Correia from Brazil. This year, our AFS student was to have been Jmil N'Zoulou from Morocco, however, due to unforeseen circumstances he was not able to come. His American home was to have been with Leonard Hains family.

This year's AFS chapter officers were: President Reverend Knox Seaton, Vice President Tony Johnson and Secretary-Treasurer Florence Hagstrom. Other members were Joyce Bruns, Doyle Potter, Donald McGillis, Norma Carrigan, Dr. A. E. Magnuson, Superintendent Walter Nosek, Leonard Hains, Margaret Gauger, Karen Hall, Robert Bieraugel, Earl Beals, and Mae Johnson.
